CANNABIS: THE MOST IMPORTANT NATURAL RESOURCE ON EARTH

Cannabis has more uses than any plant on Earth.

Human kind has been cultivating cannabis for over 12,000 years. It has been the "Man's Best Friend" in the plant domain longer than any other plant.

Cannabis is critical to humanity for its fiber, oil, flower, and eco friendly replacements for alternative resources such as crude oil, high CO2 emitting concrete, and trees.

No plant on Earth can provide cures for more debilitating diseases than cannabis.

Due to its' lack of acceptance in Western society the potential of cannabis has been limited. Cannabis has unlimited potential

Hemp should be the main biofuel for plastics, motor oil, and gasoline. Hemp should be the source of ALL paper and provide enough food to feed the homeless.

No other plant can provide food, clothing, and shelter on Earth like cannabis. All basic human needs can be met.

Cannabis culture is one of peace, spirit, and unification something the world needs now more than ever.

Cannabis advocates would have to go beyond initiative of legalization and into initiatives of worship in order for people to see the importance of this plant. Cannabis is a sacred plant.

Cannabis is more than a business, it's a sacred entity and should be treated as such. Those people who oppose cannabis or see it purely as a business opportunity are missing the bigger picture. Cannabis can be the key to human survival in the long term.

Cannabis and hemp should be the most globally grown crop in the world, however due to special interests, it is inhibited. This must change. Now.

Due to it's native origin in the far East, a lack of understanding by the mainstream is in effect. Grain, tobacco, wheat, corn, barley, hops, are all native to North America, Cannabis is not. As a foreign substance people need to unite globally on cannabis.

The conversation on cannabis needs to be become more mature. The community more educated, more serious.

New York City must become the capital of cannabis culture in order for REAL CHANGE to happen.
